1027 N Forest St, Bellingham WA 98225

Come join us in building a bioregion full of people who support healing, health, vitality and freedom.

9:00 Registration and Community Building Processes

9:30 Session 1 – Keynote Address followed by Panelists & Discussion

“Deep dive into social and economic realities of the business of mass incarceration”

12:30 Lunch Break

1:30 Session 2 – Featured Speaker followed by Panelists & Discussion

“What’s the new science, the emerging trends? What can we collectively create?”

We (the residents of Whatcom County) have the opportunity to come together to permanently reverse mass incarceration in our community. 1) We can educate ourselves. 2) We can take action. Come hear from researchers, authors, indigenous elders, health professionals, activists, students and professors about what they have been doing. You will meet and have time to learn from people who work with leaders and organizations such as WWU, Seattle Restorative Justice, Northwest Indian College, Civil Survival, the New Jim Crow Coalition, World Wisdom Council, Recovery Cafe and organizations from Canada and the US.

An educational, “pay as you will” event!
